HABIT.

"Habit" is hard to overcome. If you take off the first letter, it does not change "a bit".

If you take off another, you have a "bit" left.

If you take still another the whole of "it" remains.

If you take still another, it is not "it" totally used up.

All of which goes to show that if you wish to be rid of a "habit" you must throw it off altogether.

Just a Little Minute.

I have just a little minute. Only sixty seconds in it. Forged upon me, can't refuse it. Didn't seek it, didn't choose it. But it's up to me to use it. I must suffer if I abuse it. Just a tiny, little minute. But eternity is in it.

—Exchange.

Bear With One Another.

Bear with each other's faults. Love one another and help one another. Pity each other. Bear each other's burdens. We are all moving on a great march, a vast assembly than ever moved through the wilderness of old, and we stand related to him and he to us, and we to each other. We shall therefore look back with unspeakable sorrow at the jars and disorders of the past and the uncharities of this mortal life; and for every sweet kindness, for every loving helpfulness, for every patience and every self-denial or self-sacrifice we shall lift up thanks to Almighty God—Western Christian Union.

Dr. C. H. Williamson.

The Rev. Dr. C. H. Williamson, of Memphis, Tenn., preached at the M. E. Church South last Sunday evening to a large congregation. His subject was the "One Talent Man." He argued that the world can not afford to let the one talent man fail and his treatment of the subject made a very interesting and impressive sermon. It was practical and timely, dealing with one of the greatest problems now confronting the world. He pleaded for conditions that will uplift the one talent man and thereby make the entire social structure of the world more secure.

Dr. Williamson is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Memphis, where he has lived a dozen years or more. He is very prominent in church circles and community work, having won his distinction by earnest and effective efforts to help mankind. Except for a stop-over of one day last year this is his first visit in several years to his father-in-law, Judge R. T. Burns. Many friends are here yet who lived in Louisa when Mr. Williamson was pastor of a local church. They are interested in his success and are always glad to see him.

THE WAR SPIRIT MUST BE FOUGHT

Prevailing estimates of the number of wars now going on in the world range widely, from ten to twenty, and even more.

To choose the smaller number, as being closest to the mark, is not to mitigate the horror very much. One cannot but imagine that the windows of hell must rattle with the laughter of devils when they remind each other that the last and greatest of wars was fought "to stop all wars."

It is terrible to think of the actual circumstances of these wars. The destruction of property, of life, of joy, of hope; the utter misery of millions and millions of men, of women and of little children.

But there is something still more terrible than this, which is, to reflect upon the possibility of the human race abandoning all its cherished hopes of a universal and eternal peace. That hope has sustained the courage and the faith of many generations. The firm belief that some time or other

"the sword should be beaten into the plowshare, the spear into the pruning hook, and nations should learn the arts of war no more" has supported the confidence of myriads of people in the moral government of the universe. For us to abandon that faith and accept the conclusion of such men as Bernhardt, that war is "the normal state of life, not only for beasts but men," would be to plunge the human race into the midnight of despair.

It is a conclusion to be resisted, tooth and nail. Each individual owes it to himself and to the mass to refuse, by an invincible effort of his will, when his reason fails him, a verdict so hideous and fatal.

Let that verdict once be generally accepted; let the myriads of human beings calmly and finally decide that wars are inevitable and must keep recurring "until the sun grows cold and the stars are old and the leaves of the judgment book unroll," and human life would become as intolerable as in a jungle.

To fight that conclusion of his own thinking and to help to fight it as the philosophy of humanity is the supreme and holy duty of each and all—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The League of Nations is the greatest movement ever promulgated to resist war.
